Says Another Juror, Who Dentes It, Showed Him a Newspaper Clipping Saying That Alderdice Had Been Previously Convicted - Also That the Jury Was Starved

James S. Alderdice, the lawyer, who was convicted of forgery in the first degree, was sentenced to Sing Sing for eighteen years by Recorder Goff yesterday. Alderdice's counsel immediately made a motion for a new trial and an arrest of judgment, which was denied. Later Justice Blanchard granted a stay until July 20, when a motion will be argued for a certificate of reasonable

For Alderdice Andrew Byrne moved for a new trial on the ground of irregularities in the jury room and that the jury had been coerced. Byrne submitted a number of affidavits in support of his motion. One of the affidavits was from George W. Lyons, the eleventh juror. While the jury was out it was understood that one of the jurors held out for acquittal.

In his affidavit Lyons says that the foreman asked him if his opinion would be changed if he knew that Alderdice had been convicted of a similar offense in Brooklyn and had jumped his bail. Lyons swears that he was told that one of the jurors had a newspaper clipping to that effect and he asked to see it. One of the jurors, a man named H. C. Shackman, Lyons thinks, showed him the clipping. Lyons

I would not have voted for conviction if I had not believed from such a statement that the defendant had been guilty of a similar offense and had jumped his hail. I verily believe that many of the jurors voted for conviction because of their knowledge of said newspaper statement. According to their statements in the jury room they believed that the defendant had been guilty of a similar offense before and jumped his bail."

Lyons further alleges that the jury were kept out twenty-two hours without anything to eat but forty sandwiches; that they asked for supper several times but didn't get any and that one of the jurors said that he hadn't had anything to eat from the morning before he hadn't had anything to eat from the morning before.

Samuel Marcus, an attorney submits an affidavit in which he swears that he sent for Juror Shackman and asked him if he had the newspaper clipping and if it was shown in the jury room, but that Shackman told him he couldn't remember whether he had had such a clipping or whether it was discussed by the jurors and shown to Lyons.

to Lyons.

Lawyer Byrne asked for a new trial on the ground that the indictment was defective and made affidait that the "verdict had been reached by improper means."

Assistant District Attoney Garvan protested against the affidavits becoming a part of the court record, but Recorder Goff received them. At the same time he instructed Mr. Garvan to find out what had gone on in the jury room. The Recorder said that if the statements in the affidavits were true the law had been violated. He were true the law had been violated. He instructed Mr. Garvan to submit answershackman was summoned to the District Attorney's office yesterday afternoon and examined by Mr. Garvan. Shackman and examined by Mr. Garvan. Shackman denied that any newspaper clipping was shown in the jury room or that a newspaper clipping was discussed. He said that Lyons gave as a reason for holding out that he wasn't convinced that Alderdice had forged bonds and deeds for Mrs. Mary J. Oliver's property. Mr. Arnold, the foreman, asked him if upon proof that the deeds were forged he would agree with the other eleven jurors that Alderdice was guilty. The deeds were sent for, and Lyons was won over.

Lyons and the other jurors will be examined to-day. The District Attorney's office intends to make a thorough investigation.

Lawyer Byrne started to make a plea for clemency for Alderdice, but the Recorder didn't let him go far. The Recorder said: "Alderdice, you were convicted of forgery in the first degree, and it was clearly shown that you committed perjury on the witness stand. You have committed one of the worst crimes known to society—misusing ctient. By your crime you have brought into disrepute the profession you have followed. The sentence I shall pass upon you will not be so much a punishment to yourself as an example to other lawyers and a self as an example to other lawyers and a deterrent against similar practises. I sen-tence you to eighteen years in State's prison." Alderdice, thin and sallow faced, showed no emotion. "Hand me my hat," he said, and he was led back to the Tombs. But as soon as he started to walk his legs gave way, and he had to be supported by three Alderdice was convicted of forging deeds Anierdice was convicted of lorging deeds and bonds transferring property, worth almost $200,000 from Mrs. Mary J. Oliver to his sister, Mary E. Alderdice. Alderdice's father, a minister, was the closest friend and agent of Mrs. Oliver, a Harlem recluse. She was found dead in her rooms one night, not far from old man Alderdice, who died in the Harlem Hospital the next morning. Alderdice, by the way, never was con-victed in Brooklyn of a similar offense.

PROTOID NUT TREATMENT.

Christian, Naturalist, Cool in Court While Women Medical Sleuths Testify.

Eugene Christian, a "naturalist and food expert," to quote from his business cards, was arrested on a warrant issued by Magistrate Breen on complaint of the New York County Medical Society. He was charged with practising medicine without proper credentials. Josephine Cook, chief detective of the society, assisted by two other young women, appeared against him.

Christian has his offices at 61 Fifth avenue. Mrs. Eliza Howard of 808 East 163d street called on him there on June 26 and asked him to "treat" her.

Christian, it is alleged, advertises in periodicals throughout the country that he can cure many ills, his method being to put the patient on a diet. Mrs. Howard was asked this question: "Is your will power strong?"

At the climax of the examination Christian diagnosed the case as "hyperpepsia."

He advised her to abstain from certain articles of food and to take instead a nut food sold by him which he called the "Protoid Nut." For this treatment he charged her $3. Three pounds of the food charged her $3. Three pounds of the food cost her a dollar.

cost her a dollar.

On subsequent days Mrs. Cook and Mrs. Engel called at 61 Fifth avenue, and though they had different complaints Christian assured them that they were suffering from "hyperpepsia." In addition to that he found that Mrs. Engel was afflicted with "carbon dioxid poisoning." He gave them the same treatment, a protoid nut diet.

On the occasion of Mrs. Cook's visit she mentioned to Christian that her sister-in-law, Mrs. Engel, had red spots, something like freckles, upon her right arm. "Um tickled to death," said Christian. "Send her to me again. That's an entirely new symptom."

new symptom."

Christian is apparently about 40 years old. He is smooth shaven and distinguished in appearance. He appeared in court wearing a light gray suit and a flowing black tie. He remained undisturbed while Mr. Cooper of the medical society stated the facts in the case to Magistrate Breen.

The case was set down for examination for next Monday, the accused being paroled.

of the Missing Woman, Who Had Been Under Treatment for the Cocaine Habit POUGHKEEPSIE, July 6 .- A flood of gossip has been loosened by the escape from the Hudson River State Hospital late Saturday evening of Mrs. Janet L. Wilson, the beautiful and accomplished daughter of former Congressman Philip Burrill Low of New York, a wealthy ship chandler. The manner of Mrs. Wilson's escape started s rumor that she had outside aid, and the fact that young Walter Langdon, son of Dr. Charles H. Mrs. Wilson had been under treatment for the cocaine habit and had improved to such an extent that Dr. Harris of the hospital staff said this morning that they were ready to surrender her to her friends at any time. An investigation disclosed that she got out of the hospital Saturday night by the removal of a nut from the guard at her window. She crawled through the window, and from that time no trace of her has been found. The fact that she disappeared so absolutely without a clue or hint as to how she got away led to the report that she was aided to escape. Supt. Pilgrim of the hospital is away and Dr. Langdon would not talk this morning, preferring, he said, to wait until later to give out a statement. Dr. Harris, in an interview with a representative of THE SUN, said that Mrs. Wilson was a woman of attractive personality, and, although she was modestly, dressed, her appearance was such that she would have been noticed had she been seen at night on the roads or walks leading from the hospital. No woman answering her description was seen, either answering her description was seen, either alone or in the company of anybody. Saturday night or Sunday in the vicinity of the hospital or at the Hudson River Railroad station, and no carriage was hired at any of the livery stables to take her away. These facts were learned promptly by the hospital officials. How Mrs. Wilson made her departure is a mystery, both at the hospital and to the friends and family of Mrs. Wilson.

hospital and to the friends and family of Mrs. Wilson.

"The mystery surrounding Mrs. Wilson's escape," said Dr. Harris, "inspired the gossip connecting her name and that of young Walter Langdon, who is about 20 years of age. I have known him ever since he was a little fellow. He has no bad habits and is quiet in his manners. There is nothing in his life to make it probable that he is connected with any such episode as this. He had been talking about going fishing, and left before Mrs. Wilson did to visit friends in Albany, intending to start from there for the woods. He had very little money with him. I regard the elopement story as the mean invention of lying and slanderous tongues."

SENTRIES OVER CLOTHESLINES. In Spite of Them Choice Lingerie Vanishes From 101st Street Block.

Some one is picking all the good linen off the lines on the south side of 101st street between Columbus avenue and Central Park West and isn't especially particular whether detectives are watching for not. He has been doing business so long and so successfully that there is a great dearth of fine lingerie in all the wardrobes.

A few days ago Acting Captain Shields of the West 100th street station detailed De-tectives McManus and Shaw to find the culprit. Yesterday they stationed them-selves on the roof of a building divided into four double flat houses numbered 4 to 10. Mrs. Charles Green, who lives at No. 4, was there watching the fine washable silks was there watching the fine washable silks belonging to her daughter. She left when the detectives came; they strolled along to the roof of No. 10, came back and found the Green raiment had vanished. It had been pinched directly behind their backs. #### EDUCATORS ELECT PRESIDENT

THE HONOR FALLS TO NATHAN C. SCHAFFER OF PENNSYLVANIA.

Stalwart North Carolina Farmer, Dr McIver, Tried to Win Place-Blast Against High School Clubs-Women Oppose National Charter for Association

ASBURY PARK, N. J., July 6.—Nathan C. Schaffer, Superintendent of Public Instruction of Pennsylvania, was elected president of the National Educational Association, to succeed William H. Maxwell, Superintendent of Schools, New York, at a meeting of the active members held to-day. The Pennsylvanian did not secure the prize without a struggle. He was opposed by Dr. Charles D. McIver, president of the State Normal and Industrial College at Greensboro, N.C. Dr. McIver is a farmer educator who was brought up behind the plow, and whose rise in the educational world was a climb from the country schoolmaster to the presidency of a prominent Southern college. He is a broad shouldered, athletic looking man, and was brought forward by the Southern delegation yesterday afternoon with a rush. Last night nothing was heard in the corridors of the hotels and the several State headquarters but McIver.

The Schaffer boom gathered strength this morning and by noon, when the nominating committee was ready to report, the brawny son of Dixie was not in it. The new president is one of the most prominent educators of the Quaker State. The ballot was cast by the secretary. Supt. Maxwell was named first vice-president, Miss N. was named first vice-president, Miss N. Cropsey of Indiana second vice-president and J. H. Hememan of Arkansas third vice-president. The following additional vice-presidents were elected. Edward S. Vaughn, Oklahoma; John F. Riggs, Iowa; Joseph O'Connor, California; D. R. Johnson, South Carolina; J. A. Shawan, Ohio; H. O. Wheeler, Vermont; J. Y. Joiner, North Carolina; J. W. Spindler, Kansas; J. Stanley Brown, Illinois. J. W. Wilkinson of Kansas was elected treasurer of the association. The office of secretary is permanent and will remain with the incumbent, Dr. Irwin Shepard of Winona, Minn.

A board of forty-five directors was chosen. The election did not sensibly affect the

The department of secondary education The department of secondary education adopted a resolution against secret societies in secondary schools. The societies were condemned because they were "selfish, snobbish, narrow and inculcated a feeling of self-sufficiency." It was declared that high school boys were too young for club life, which fostered the tobacco habit, encouraged extravagance, brought politics into the organizations of the school and were breeding places for social differentiation. It was urged that literary societies should be substituted for high school clubs. To-night Lorenzo D. Harvey of Wisconshould be substituted for high school clubs.
To-night Lorenzo D. Harvey of Wisconsin spoke on manual training and William Barclay Parsons of New York addressed the convention on "The Practical Utility of Practical and Manual Training." The last address of the convention was by Frank A. Vanderlip, vice-president of the National City Bank, New York, who spoke on "The Economic Importance of Trade Schools."

WORK ON THE PANAMA CANAL

OFFICIAL STATEMENT MADE BY CHAIRMAN SHONTS.

He Says the First Duty Is to Create Sound Sanitary Conditions, Which are Being Provided as Quickly as Possible -Wages of Employees Increased.

WASHINGTON, July 6 .- Theodore P. Shonts, chairman of the Isthmian Canal Commission, said some interesting things in an authorized interview to-day. Mr. Shonts sought to correct a few popular misapprehensions concerning the Panama Canal work, and he indicated the commission's intention to make all necessary preparations, particularly as to sanitation, before going ahead in earnest to dig the canal. Mr. Shonts

"Our first duty is to create sound underlying conditions. This is now vastly more important than the moving of dirt. The men must have suitable houses in healthful surroundings, they must have wholesome and nourishing food at reasonable cost, they must have suitable transportation facilities to get to and from their work, and they must have opportunity for recreation afforded them. It will be the policy of the commission to provide these essentials as quickly as possible and to only increase the working force, aside from the mechanics necessary to provide these necessities, as fast as the facilities indicated can be furnished. The commission realizes that its adherence to this policy will result in the actual handling of less quantities of material temporarily, but it also knows that with healthful underlying conditions vastly more will be accomplished later on at less cost and with less friction. "It will also be the invariable policy of the commission to give to the public the actual conditions as they exist on the Isthmus without any attempt to either color or conceal. So much has been said by the press of an exaggerated character about health conditions there that it may be wise to recapitulate the facts regarding yellow fever. There have been between 9,000 and 10,000 employees on the Isthmus since the disease first appeared in May. During that month there were twenty canal employees stricken and two deaths. In June thirty canal employees were stricken and four deaths, two of those dying being Americans ap-pointed in the United States and two persons appointed locally on the Isthmus. There were also three cases of fever among employees of the Panama Railroad Company and no deaths. During the month of July, up to the 6th, there have been no new cases and there is but one employee under treatment

"As an evidence of the consideration the creation of health conditions is now receiving it may be well to state that 12½ per cent of the total number of employees are assigned to that work under Gov. Magoon.
"In regard to the wages paid and the In regard to the wages pad and the statements that so many men have left because of reduction in salaries the fact is that wages instead of having been reduced have been very considerably increased in every branch of the service on the Isthmus during the life of the present commission. It will be the fixed practise on the Isthmus during the life of the present commission. It will be the fixed practise of the commission, as far as practicable, to fill the higher and more desirable positions by the promotion of deserving employees. The entrance or beginner's salary for the clerical positions, such as book-keepers, stenographers, typewriters, &c., is $1,500 per annum, and for draftsmen from $1,800 to $2,000. The wages received in the outdoor railroad positions are from 10 to 25 per cent. higher than those paid in the United States, being in general for switch engineers, $125; engine foremen, $100; helpers, $75; track foremen, $80 to $100, and supervisors, $150 to $175 per month. All the mechanical tradesmen, such as carpenters, blacksmiths, machinists, &c., receive 50 cents per hour. In addition all employees are furnished quarters or allowed 15 per cent. increase in pay in lieu thereof, and are given six weeks leave of absence per year on full pay.

"Inregard to the amount of work actually done, complete reports have not been received as yet at this office, although the acting chief engineer cables that they have been sent. But in order to know exactly what has been done and what the actual condition of work now is the commission what has been done and what the actual condition of work now is the commission has sent two of its engineering members to the Isthmus to make a personal examination of the ground and make a formal report of their investigation."

No New Cases of Yellow Fever Since July 1. WASHINGTON, July 6 .- Gov. Magoon wired the War Department to-day that there was only one case of yellow fever now under treatment in the American colony at Panama. There have been three recoveries since July 1 and no new cases.
